Dr Eltom's current research interest is focus on environmental degradation and EIA mainly in areas of drought and desertification ( which are relevant to global environmental movement). Current topics of particular interest are the identification of mast adapted tree species in extreme environmental degraded areas in western Sudan. Also identification of community participation and government function and regulatory sequence in environmental susceptibility. My recent research interest needs new perspectives such as to find collaboration with another researcher/s to make interdisciplinary approach active, and to form the research group (from outstanding students).
